Polypropylene (PP), also known as polypropene, is a thermoplastic polymer used in a wide variety of applications. It is produced via chain-growth polymerization from the monomer propylene.. Polypropylene belongs to the group of polyolefins and is partially crystalline and non-polar. Its properties are similar to polyethylene, but it is slightly harder and more heat resistant.

Poly(Lactic Acid: Production, Applications, Nanocomposites ... Abstract: Environmental, economic, and safety challenges have provoked packaging scientists and producers to partially substitute petrochemical-based polymers with biodegradable ones. The general purpose of this review is to introduce poly(lactic acid (PLA), a compostable, biodegradable thermoplastic made from renewable sources. Polymer/polyhedral oligomeric silsesquioxane (POSS ... A review is presented of the recent developments concerning the use of polyhedral oligomeric silsesquioxane (POSS) for designing polymer nanocomposites endowed with enhanced fire retardancy. Controlled/living radical polymerization: Features ... 1.. *Introduction*The discovery of living anionic polymerization by Michael Szwarc had a tremendous effect on polymer science , .His work facilitated major developments in both synthetic polymer chemistry and polymer physics as it opened an avenue to the production of well-defined polymers with precisely designed molecular architectures and nano-structured morphologies , , , , , , , .
